SECTION—B

(Reading Skills)

17. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

- (i) All round development of the man is the aim of education. It should train not only the head, but also the hands and the heart. But our present system of education has miserably failed to achieve this aim. It suffers from many grave defects. It was founded by the British for their convenience. Lord Macaulay was the father and founder of this system. He wanted it to produce clerks to help the British in running their administration. It must be changed and overhauled.

- (ii) The greatest defect in our present system of education is that it is too theoretical. An educated man has only bookish knowledge. He knows nothing about practical things. He finds that his education has not made him fit to do any useful work for his society.
- (iii) The present system of education does not teach us the dignity of labour. A student is not taught or trained to do things with his hands. Manual or physical labour find no place in education. Educated young men are fit only to be clerks in office. They look down upon manual labours. They consider it below their dignity to work with their hands in fields or factories.

(iv) Vocational education is the need of the hour. We need more technicians, engineers and doctors. But, the number of vocational institutions-Engineering and Medical colleges, Polytechnics and ITI's is limited. A large number of young men and women, who can do well as technicians are deprived of technical or vocational training.
